Warranty Statement

The Motion Access, LLC Condor products are guaranteed to be free from defects in material and/or workmanship and to perform as advertised when properly installed, used, and maintained in accordance with written instructions. Failure to adhere to and/or comply with operation manual instructions and/or relevant building codes and standards (specifically ANSI/BHMA A156.10 & A156.19) will void all associated warranty obligations. Should any part prove defective within one year from date of purchase, it will be replaced without charge provided the defective part is returned to our factory within 30 days.

Motion Access, LLC will not be responsible for labor charges, loss, or consequential damage of any kind caused by defective parts or for charges incurred in the replacement or repair of defective parts by purchaser. If the product is installed after careless handling, including that by freight companies or the product is improperly installed or improperly used may void all warranties.

This Warranty Statement is the entire liability for any claim to damages whatsoever, and is made by Motion Access, LLC and accepted by purchaser in lieu of all other warranties, obligations, or liabilities expressed or implied.
